

Cutting Edge Newsletter

Click to go to our Home Page

Cutting Edge Weekly Newsletter April 13, 2011

----- This Week's Hot News -----

I. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton throws down the "Pentagon's New Map" gauntlet to all strongman dictators standing in the way of planned Regional Governments #7 and #8!

Stand down or die!

NEWS BRIEF: "Clinton Says Arrest of Gbagbo A 'Signal' to Dictators, Tyrants", Voice of America, April 11, 2011

"U.S. Secretary of State Hillary Clinton says the arrest of defeated Ivory Coast President Laurent Gbagbo sends a message to dictators that they cannot disregard the verdict of free elections ... The United States had supported the African Union and United Nations effort to dislodge Gbagbo with financial and travel sanctions. And welcoming his surrender, Clinton said the episode makes clear there will be consequences for leaders who defy the results of free elections."

As Cutting Edge has repeatedly stated during the past four months, in reporting the sweep of "democratic protests" through Northern Africa / Middle East and in Tropical Africa, the objective is to remove any reluctant governments in this region so that a compliant government may offer no resistance to the planned Regional Governments (Club of Rome Plan).

Secretary Clinton's remarks cuts to the heart of the scripted "Regime Changes" planned for this entire continent. Clinton's remarks were triggered by the forcible removal of the Ivory Coast President. The Ivory Coast lies within Regional Government #8.

Now that the resistant President Gbagbo has been removed, all remaining strongman dictators in the entire region are put on notice: "You're Next!"

II. Libya's dictator, Gaddafi, still has not gotten the message.

NEWS BRIEF: "Libyan Rebels Reject African Peace Plan", The Slate Edition News, April 12, 2011

"A peace plan proposed by the African Union has not tempted Libyan rebels, who insist that Col. Qaddafi must go as part of any deal. A rebel council announced its decision after meeting with members of the African Union in Benghazi to discuss the proposal, reports the Los Angeles Times. 'The African Union initiative does not include the departure of Qaddafi and his sons from the Libyan political scene, therefore it is outdated,' a rebel spokesperson said from their de facto capital. 'We will not negotiate on the blood of our martyrs. We will die with them or be victorious'."

This peace plan proposal came from the African Union, which means that Gaddfai's old buddies got together to propose a plan which would leave the Colonel in power. Of course, Gaddafi accepted the plan, called a "Roadmap", knowing full well that the rebels would reject it.

Libya is facing a NATO / American unified military force which is quite formidable - - on paper. If Western leaders really wanted Gaddafi out of power, he would be gone in less than an hour. Therefore, since Gaddafi is still in power, he remains there because the time for him to depart has not yet arrived.

When the time for his departure arrives according to the script he is following, he will be gone very quickly. Earlier in this contrived crisis, the United Nations and NATO established the precedent that foreign military intervention could be a proper tool by which to effect a Regime Change; perhaps another precedent will occur before the Libyan tyrant is removed: a ground invasion by foreign troops, ordered by the United Nations and commanded by military leaders other than American.

Should that precedent be set, every strongman of every nation lying in the planned Regional Governments #7 and #8 can pack their bags, for their immediate doom will be etched in stone.

DVD

III. Mitt Romney makes it official: he is running for President.

Now, will his fellow Mormon, Jon Huntsman, join Romney in capturing the White House for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints? You know the "Jesus" the Mormons have in mind; he is the one whose brother is Lucifer!

NEWS BRIEF: "Romney opens White House quest for 2012";, The 'Boston Herald, April 12, 2011

"Former Bay State Gov. Mitt Romney ended the 2012 guessing game and launched a presidential exploratory committee as a first step toward another run for the White House .. Taking a cue from President Obama, Romney made the announcement in a video blasted over Facebook and Twitter after meeting with students at the University of New Hampshire yesterday."

Mitt launched his campaign powered by slogans testifying to America's former greatness.

" 'It is time that we put America back on a course of greatness, with a growing economy, good jobs and fiscal discipline in Washington', Romney says in the video ... Romney is viewed as a battle-hardened challenger this time around as he's already been vetted by opponents and withstood the harsh rigors of a presidential campaign, including taking hits during debates and bouncing back."

As Mitt Romney begins his daily campaign, we should expect him to emphasize the danger the American Constitution is in right now. For over 100 years, a Brigham Young prophesy has been hanging over the American political landscape.

Known as the "White Horse Prophecy", this prophecy seems to be taking on new life for 2012.

Mormons fervently believe that the US Constitution is a divinely inspired document. They view it in virtually the same way they view the Bible or the Book of Mormon or other standard works of their church. Thus, the National Center for Constitutional Studies has – as its underpinning – the idea that the document they are studying is virtually holy writ.

Most knowledgeable Mormons believe this doctrine and viewed with grave suspicions the rise of Supreme Court decisions which seemed to chip away at a strict interpretation of the Constitution. This would be much like Christians who have little patience with liberal theologians who interpret the Bible very loosely and do not regard it as the very Word of God.

This would put most Mormons on the same page politically as the conservative wing of the Republican party. Many LDS leaders – including Brigham Young - that a time would come when the US Constitution would “hang by a thread” and that the elders of Israel (meaning the LDS leadership) would come in and save the day.

When the Constitution is in dire peril, one will come who is mighty and strong. He will come riding (figuratively perhaps) on a white horse and will wield awesome political and spiritual power.

This mysterious priesthood elder would somehow seize control of the US government to prevent the total abrogation of the Constitution. He would assume total power and create an LDS “Kingdom” in America. At that time, this “one mighty and strong” would be proclaimed the new “Prophet “ (First President) of the LDS church and would also be president of the United States. Thus, he would wield both supreme political power of the most powerful nation on earth and also be the “Prophet, Seer and Revelator” (12) of the LDS Church.

Since the Romney family is one of the "hereditary LDS families", Mitt is uniquely powerful within the Mormon Church. He is incredibly rich and powerful, and has been honing his campaign skills for a very long time now.

We can expect Conservative Republicans to flock to Romney's banner rather than seeing Obama be elected for another four years. Already, Christian Conservatives are being told that they can, and should, support a Mormon for President.

To foil this propaganda push, we have produced Bill Schnoebelen's newest DVD, **"Mormonism's Temple of Doom"**, we educate you on what kind of Luciferian religion Mormonism is, and then we show you the Biblical Scriptures forbidding any genuine Christian from supporting a Mormon for any office in the land.

**"Mormonism's Temple of Doom"** is one of those "just in time" bookstore resources. Your church leaders need to watch this video, so they will not stand in their pulpit and call for members to support Romney or any other Mormon for office.

IV. Japan has raised the nuclear accident level to match the Russian level of Chernobyl.

NEWS BRIEF: "Japan increases nuke crisis severity to match Chernobyl", San Francisco Chronicle, April 11, 2011

"Japan's nuclear regulators raised the severity level of the crisis at a stricken nuclear plant Tuesday to rank it on par with the 1986 Chernobyl disaster. An official with the Nuclear Safety Commission of Japan, speaking on national television, said the rating was being raised from 5 to 7 — the highest level on the international scale."

While this development is serious, does it mean that the world will be as polluted as it was with the Russian disaster?

"The level 7 signifies a 'major accident' with 'wider consequences' than the previous level, according to the standards scale ... 'We have upgraded the severity level to 7 as the impact of radiation leaks has been widespread from the air, vegetables, tap water and the ocean', said Minoru Oogoda of Japan's Nuclear and Industrial Safety Agency."

This next article reveals that the Chernobyl fiasco was still much more serious than the disaster at the Fukushima Dai-ichi nuclear plant.

NEWS BRIEF: "Japan's Fukushima fallout is serious, but it's not Chernobyl", by Mark MacKennon, The Globe and Mail News, April 12, 2011

"Fukushima isn't Chernobyl. At least not yet."

"I have the little-sought-after distinction of having been to both places. The situation in Fukushima is dire – and terrifying for those who live in the region – but we're not yet at the stage where an entire region of Japan needs to be written off for decades or centuries to come, as with Pripyat, the city closest to the Chernobyl reactor in what is now northern Ukraine. Pripyat remains a ghost town, with "April 26, 1986" still written on classroom chalkboards and the envelopes left in people's mailboxes. After being left to stare at the sky in confusion for several hours after the nuclear disaster that day, the 47,000 residents of Pripyat were hastily ordered out of the city and never allowed to return."

But, wait a minute. Didn't the government order all people within a 20-kilometer radius to evacuate?

"The tens of thousands of Japanese who were evacuated from the 20-kilometre zone around the Fukushima Dai-ichi into makeshift shelters are temporarily sharing that fate ... but for Fukushima to truly move alongside Chernobyl on the scale of nuclear disasters, the situation would have to continue to deteriorate for some time to come."

"The amount of radiation released since the Fukushima Dai-ichi plant was crippled by the March 11 earthquake and tsunami is still only about 10 per cent of that spewed into the air when Chernobyl Reactor No. 1 exploded. The key difference between the two disasters remains that the four troubled nuclear reactors at Fukushima shut down as they were supposed to on March 11, while Chernobyl exploded while the reactor was still running, causing a catastrophic chain reaction that shot radiation into the upper atmosphere."

Remember the warning Doc Marquis issued in his DVD, "The Illuminati Is Fulfilling Bible Prophecy", the objective of all this scripted events is to overwhelm the average citizen with troubles that they will become weary beyond belief and will one day allow a very charismatic leader take them over the cliff into the Abyss like a flock of lemmings!

Are you that tired yet? Are you worried about our high levels of technology one day ruining this Earth? If you are, the Global Elite has you just where they want you!

Overwhelmed by bad news.

Sick and tired of it all.

If this is you, then you may be ready to receive the claims of Antichrist.