

SDA UN Ecumenical Pursuit

Click to go to our Home Page

It has been proven that the UN is the chief crafter of the New World Order and there is absolutely nothing SDA leaders will ever be able to achieve in turning the UN from its course. (Scroll down for article). Thus, SDA involvement with that agency of Satan is nothing more than conspiracy/confederation with God's enemy.

The SDA church has made many concessions to the ecumenical movement in order to be a member of the World Council of Churches and its many National Councils the world over. Go to any large library and check the book entitled DIRECTORY CHRISTIAN COUNCILS, published by The World Council of Churches, copyright 1985. Check the following pages to find that the SDA church is listed as FULL MEMBERS of the World Council of Churches in the following countries. I furnished the members of my home church with a copy of the book in 1986:

1. Belize, p. 100.
2. Hong Kong, p. 63.
3. Cook Islands, p. 189.
4. Sweden, p. 158.

5. Bahamas, p. 99.

Then check the last page, p. 244, to find the following:

“In addition to the relationships with regional and national councils of churches mentioned above, the WCC is in WORKING RELATIONSHIP with many Christian world Communion, including the Anglican Consultative Council, Baptist World Alliance, Disciples Ecumenical Consultative Council, Friends World Committee for Consultation, General Conference of Seventh Day Adventists...”

The church is listed as Associate Members in some countries such as the Solomon Islands, p. 195.

SDA church leaders have lied about this MEMBERSHIP for many decades now. They are also MEMBERS of various National Councils of Churches the world over. They now admit this, after lying about members of such councils for decades.

Such conspiracy/confederation with God’s enemies is unpardonable sin and this is how the SDA church has fulfilled the following statement by Ellen White and Isaiah 8:9-12. Obviously, when God says not to even pray for a people, they have committed UNPARDONABLE SIN:

COUNTERPART: "In the time of the Saviour, the Jews had so covered over the precious jewels of truth with the rubbish of tradition and fable, that it was impossible to distinguish the true from the false. The Saviour came to clear away the rubbish of superstition and long-cherished errors, and to set the jewels of God's word in the framework of truth. What would the Saviour do if he should come to us now as he did to the Jews? He would have to do a similar work in clearing away the rubbish of tradition and ceremony. The Jews were greatly disturbed when he did this work [As are SDAs today!]. They had lost sight of the original truth of God, but Christ brought it again to view. It is our work to free the precious truths of God from superstition and error." E.G. White, Review and Herald, Vol. 2, 308.

“The Lord commanded one of his ancient servants, "Pray not thou for this people, neither lift up cry nor prayer for them; neither make intercession to me; for I will not hear thee." The prophet thus describes the sins which had called forth this fearful denunciation: "The prophets prophesy falsely, and the priests bear rule by their means; and my people love to have it so; and what will ye do in the end thereof?" "From the least of them even unto the greatest of them, every one is given to covetousness; and from the prophet even unto the priest, every one dealeth falsely. They have healed also the hurt of the daughter of my people slightly, saying, Peace, peace, when there is no peace.” {RH, November 7, 1882 par. 8}

----- Original Message -----

From: Cindy Haynes

To: Test Test

Sent: Saturday, June 13, 2015 12:24 PM

Subject: Adventist Church President Holds First Meeting With United Nations Chief - What does THIS MEAN for 501c3 Adventists?

The two leaders discuss ways to help people and promote religious tolerance.

POSTED APRIL 6, 2015

United Nations Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon expressed concerns about growing religious intolerance worldwide during a private meeting with Adventist Church leader Ted N.C. Wilson, and he invited the Seventh-day Adventist Church to work with the UN in helping people.

Wilson, the first Adventist Church president to meet with a UN chief, noted that the church has long supported religious liberty and said it was willing to team up on initiatives that followed Christ’s ministry of helping people physically, mentally, socially, and spiritually.

Ganoune Diop, associate director of the Adventist world church’s public affairs and religious liberty department, said his department takes Jesus’ words of being the “salt of the earth” and the “light of the world” in Matt. 5:13, 14 seriously.

“Its representatives mingle with political and religious leaders in every country without losing or compromising a distinctive Adventist identity,” said Diop, who attended the meeting.

Ban met with Wilson, Diop, and John Graz, director of the public affairs and religious liberty department, at 12:10 p.m. Monday for a 45-minute meeting in his office at the United Nations headquarters in New York.

The meeting was arranged with the personal involvement of Ambassador Joseph Verner Reed, dean of the UN undersecretaries-general and a friend of Seventh-day Adventists, who regularly corresponded with Diop to make the meeting a reality, Diop said.

“It was a real privilege to meet the secretary-general and to hear his appeal for assistance for humanity,” Wilson told the Adventist Review.

“Seventh-day Adventists should be ready to witness for the Lord anywhere we go and to testify of God’s blessing in our lives and what we can do in His name,” he said. “The world is waiting for this type of heaven-inspired testimony with clear answers to today’s problems.”

Ban spoke about global issues such as poverty and a lack of education before voicing his concern about religious intolerance reaching unprecedented levels globally. Just last week, a militant Islamist group killed 148 people in an attack on Christians at a Kenyan university. IS and other extremist organizations in Iraq, Syria, Nigeria, Libya, and elsewhere have also targeted Christians and other religious groups with often-deadly violence in recent months.

Ban underscored his belief that people should cultivate a respect for all, including those of other faiths. He indicated that he appreciated the Adventist Church's work in promoting religious liberty as well as education, health, and humanitarian aid through the Adventist Development and Relief Agency. ADRA has worked with the UN in assisting refugees in the Middle East and elsewhere.

Wilson thanked Ban for the meeting and told about various church initiatives that correspond with the UN's mission to help people.

"We had an excellent meeting with the secretary-general and some of his staff, sharing with them about the Adventist Church's activities," Wilson said. "We focused on certain things that the Adventist Church can help with, such as religious liberty, freedom of conscience, ethical and spiritual values, respect for human dignity, family guidance, encouragement for young people, and basic human necessities like pure water and fundamental education."

Wilson added: "It is only if we are led by the Lord that we can truly be effective in our outreach to the world preparing them for Christ's soon coming by carrying out the practical ministry of Jesus through the Holy Spirit's power."

Earlier Monday, Ban held talks with Tanzanian President Jakaya Kikwete, whom Wilson incidentally met during a visit to the East African country in February.

At the meeting with Wilson, Graz gave a short report about major congresses organized by the church-affiliated International Religious Liberty Association that promote religious liberty and the church's strong support of Article 18 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which says everyone has the right “to change his religion or belief.”

Graz, secretary-general of the International Religious Liberty Association, said he was encouraged to see Ban’s concern about religious intolerance and desire to see people of goodwill work together to bring justice and freedom.

“It was a historic meeting between the UN secretary-general and the president of the Seventh-day Adventist Church about the state of the world and how we can help people living in very difficult environments,” Graz said.

“As disciples of Jesus, we want to help people and especially those who are voiceless, discriminated against, and persecuted,” he said. “In this way, we share the essential values of the UN.”

Diop said he also saw ways that the church and UN could cooperate, particularly in eradicating poverty and promoting education and healthcare.

“The impressive portfolio that the Seventh-day Adventist Church has developed for service to the whole human family remarkably resonates with the Millennium Development Goals and the Sustainable Development Goals of the UN,” he said in a statement.

[SCROLL DOWN FOR THE REST OF THE ARTICLE]

Adventist Church President Ted Wilson Holds First Meeting With UN Chief Secretary-General Ban Ki-moon April 6, 2015 - Wilson said "said it (SDA 501c3 church) was willing to team up with the United Nations.

If Ted works for Ban, and Ban works for Fran, then Ted . . . . . works for Fran.

Learn more about what this means for Modern Adventists here:

www.EndTimeWarning.com/501c3

Article source: <http://www.adventistreview.org/church-news/story2513-adventist-church-president-holds-first-meeting-with-un-chief>